HYMN

Believed to be one of Florence Nightingale's favourite hymns (first 4 verses)

The King of love my Shepherd is,
Whose goodness faileth never;
I nothing lack if I am his
And he is mine for ever.

Where streams of living water flow
My ransomed soul he leadeth,
And where the verdant pastures grow,
With food celestial feedeth.

Perverse and foolish oft I strayed,
But yet in love he sought me,
And on his shoulder gently laid,
And home, rejoicing, brought me.

In death's dark vale I fear no ill
With thee, dear Lord, beside me;
Thy rod and staff my comfort still,
Thy cross before to guide me.

H W Baker (1821-1877)
Tune Dominus Regit Me

WELCOME

We meet today to worship God, the giver of life and the source of our health; to remember Florence Nightingale with thanksgiving for her work in establishing nursing as an honourable profession; to recall the privilege we have in serving God and our fellow men and women; and to ask God's blessing on all our endeavour. But first, because we have fallen short of the glory God has for us, let us together confess our sinfulness.

O God our Father, we have sinned against you in thought, word and deed; we have not loved you with our whole heart, we have not loved our neighbours as ourselves. Have mercy upon us, cleanse us from our sins and help us to overcome our faults through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

May the almighty and merciful Lord grant us pardon and remission of all our sins, time for amendment of life and the grace and comfort of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

BIDDING PRAYER

(During the Bidding Prayer, a candle will be lit by Chief Nurse Avey Bhatia)

As we commemorate Florence Nightingale and remember the joy and achievement of her life, let us pray for the Church that inspired her and the whole fellowship of Christian people who seek to mediate God's love in the world. Let us pray for the nation and especially Elizabeth, our Queen, and all who hold public office, that they may be guided by God's grace in the exercise of the power entrusted to them; let us pray for all places of learning and education, especially for the ancient hospital of St Thomas' and the Florence Nightingale School of Nursing & Midwifery, for the development and maintenance of high standards in nursing, that God's people may be cared for with skill and tenderness.

Let us pray too for the many people who support and care for the nurses who labour where the cost is greatest, that where much is given, much may be received.

Finally let us remember in silence those of the Fellowship who have died during the past year.

THE NIGHTINGALE FELLOWSHIP PRAYER

Read by Heather Wood (November 1979 Set)

Almighty and everlasting God, Lord and Ruler of all the angels, with heaven for your throne and earth for your footstool; we thank you for the life and example of Florence Nightingale, founder of the Training School, and Alicia Lloyd Still, founder of our Fellowship 93 years ago. Prosper, we pray, these foundations and adorn their members with signal gifts of your Holy Spirit; support all those, our colleagues, who are in lonely and distant places or weighed down under heavy burdens; embrace all those of our Fellowship who were inspired to serve and are now departed from us; strengthen us in all our labours and help us to abound in truth and purity, in faith and love that, so clothed with your grace, we may fulfil the obligations of our calling; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen

THE LORD'S PRAYER

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name; thy kingdom come; thy will be done; on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen

There will be a short silence to remember, those members of the Nightingale Fellowship who have died during the past year and others known to ourselves.

POETRY READING

The Lady of The Lamp

Read by Chief Nurse Avey Bhatia

At Chelsea, under the lime-tree's stir,
I read the news to a Pensioner,
That a noble lord and a judge were dead –
'They were younger men than me', he said.

I read again of another death;
The old man turned, and caught his breath –
'She's gone?' she said; 'she too? In camp
We called her the Lady of the Lamp.

He would not listen to what I read,
But wanted it certain – 'The Lady's dead?'
I showed it to him, to remove his doubt,
And added, unthinking, 'The Lamp is out'.

He rose – and I had to help him stand –
Then, as he saluted with trembling hand,
I was abashed to hear him say,
'The Lamp she lit is alight to-day.'

HYMN

Continuation of one of Florence Nightingale's favourite hymns (final two verses)

Thou spread'st a table in my sight;
Thy unction grace bestoweth;
And O what transport of delight
From thy pure chalice floweth!

And so through all the length of days
Thy goodness faileth never:
Good shepherd, may I sing thy praise
Within thy house for ever.
